For a degree that looks to the future of business, students choose the Bachelor of Business Administration.

Business Administration continues to be heavily sought-after because of its versatility and potential financial rewards. The degree focuses on standard business practices and latest developments in the business world. Concentrations are available in marketing and management.

Core business courses enable students to build competencies in critical thinking, analysis, and decision making to prepare for careers in a highly challenging business environment. Flexibility in the degree allows students to choose advanced electives in finance, marketing, management, operations management and management information systems.
